Graduate students and postdoctoral scholars from all disciplines are invited to join a conversation about teaching and participating in collaborative writing projects. In these workshops, we’ll review some of the research in the field of education regarding the challenges and benefits of collaboration, and all participants will be invited to share from their experiences as students, teachers, and co-authors. These workshops are designed to engage a variety of audiences, from seasoned collaborators to the simply curious. All are welcome to attend one or both sessions.

Please bring your own mug—we’ll provide the tea and snacks!
