- Any earnings over the GSR Step III salary rate will be PAID BY DEPARTMENT at 100%. Refer to 2022-23 Work-Study Awarding Guidelines.

 This is the minimum amount of need a CA resident student must have to qualify for work-study.

Remember: While a student may have filed a FAFSA and meets the minimum eligibility for work-study, unforeseen circumstances may affect a student's eligibility such as receipt of fellowships, being selected for verification, etc. The Graduate Financial Aid Office will contact the department if a student's eligibility changes.

2022-23 WORK-STUDY CALCULATIONS

Non-California Residents (Must be US Citizen or Permanent Resident)

All Graduate Student Researcher appointments must pay any applicable Nonresident Supplemental Tuition (NRST) as a benefit of employment. However, as NRST remission expense cannot be charged to work-study funds, there is no work-study cost savings for NRST remission expense.
